Historical Background:

In the summer of 2003, the Riverbank Farmers Market produced a different harvest, one of dreams and hopes of bringing arts to the City of Action. Robin Bjerke & Wainer Guimaraes, both vendors at the Market, began discussing something they never in their wildest dreams thought would be the catalyst for a project that would reach out and grab the attention of their community. The desire to bring professional-level live theater took on a new meaning and sparked the imaginations of those who became infected with the thrill of volunteering to bring happiness to the young and young at heart.
